

Centre for Conflict Resolution (CRC)

£5,351

Bringing peace education and trauma counselling to internally displaced people in the Democratic Republic of Congo. Funds were sought to train 1000 people currently living in displacement camps in conflict prevention and trauma counselling.

The grant was used to replace key materials that were looted in the war; a laptop, video screen, VCR and generator. The counselling sessions have been running successfully in a number of refugee camps and people who were sworn enemies have now been able to make peace. In the refugee camps the teams have initiated a Forum for Women of different ethnic minorities. They are also broadcasting peace education twice a week on the radio.
